

STATE TAX ADVISORS WHITE PAPER: THE IMPORTANCE OF TAX PAYER ACCURACY

SUMMARY

Sales tax allocation data collected during the past year showed the Texas Comptroller's office processed more than 2.9 million sales and use tax returns, allocating $5.9 billion in local sales tax to more than 1,400 cities, transit authorities, counties and special purpose districts. Taxpayer accuracy in collecting and reporting local sales tax is a vital part of the allocation process because the data reported on sales and use tax returns are used to determine the amount of local tax each of these jurisdictions receives.
