New Website Showcases State Sales & Use Tax Expertise

Kingwood, TX July 2, 2015 – Texas based State Tax Advisors launched their new website, StateTaxAdvisors.com, to include all facets of multi-state sales and use, property, and franchise tax advisory services, as well as non-tax advisory services.

“The number one reason that our Clients give us repeat business is because of our expertise in multi-state sales and use tax laws,” said Founder and Managing Partner, Riley G. Epps. “Our depth of knowledge in tax law not only covers sales and use tax, but most often will spill over into resolving other business issues for our clients,” said Epps.

State Tax Advisors’ new website has an easy navigation making the often complex subject of sales and use tax easy to understand. The website also provides resources for other timely tax topics and non-tax related information. “Our goal is to be the best sales and use tax advisors possible for our existing and future clients as they grow their businesses and traverse the complexities of taxation. If it is a difficult situation, we will find the right solution,” concluded Riley Epps.
